

EASTERTON VILLAGE HALL

Set back from the main road through the village, and behind St Barnabas Church, lies the village hall and field. Built in the 1960s the hall is held in trust for the village and is managed by a board of trustees.

It presently has one main hall with comfortable table seating for up to 100 people. The hall also offers a stage with limited changing rooms, a fully equipped kitchen together with crockery and cutlery for 100, a separate bar with glasses and jugs to cater for the same number, and toilet facilities. There is disabled access to all facilities and there is on-site parking.

There is a large playing field behind the hall incorporating a well equipped and enclosed children's play area.

The hall is used on a regular basis by diverse groups including: Art classes; Brownies; Dog classes; Band practice; Short mat bowls and Judo. It provides an ideal venue for wedding receptions, children's and adult parties, business seminars and other functions. It is used for parish council meetings every month and is the village polling station.

Plans are well advanced to modernise the hall, providing enhanced toilet and storage facilities as well as a second function room.
